

ISRAEL'S CAUSE IS JUST !!!!

HISTORICALLY

The Jewish People have always had a presence in the Holy Land from Biblical times up to the present. They have lived there longer than any other ethnic group. Therefore Israel has a right to live unmolested, with acceptance and respect from the other nations and peoples who also live in the Middle East.

POLITICALLY

Israel's right to live in its land was fully endorsed: first by the greatest world power of its day—the British Empire—with the Balfour Declaration of 1917. Secondly by the League of Nations after World War I, who gave international sanction to the historic connection between the Jewish people and the Land of Israel, and to the right of the Jewish people to rebuild its national home. And thirdly, by the United Nations on 29th November 1947 with resolution 181.

MILITARALLY

Israel's Army, Navy and Air Force are not an aggressive fighting machine. They are a strong Defence Force due to the fact that most of the Arab and Middle Eastern neighbours have refused consistently to recognise the right of the Jewish people to live in their own State there. All of Israel's modern wars have been brought about by the will of their neighbours who have either mobilised their vast resources of military might against Israel, or have deliberately and consistently targeted Israeli citizens in one way or another. The bottom line is that Israel has the right to defend itself.

BIBLICALLY

Not all people hold to the authority of the Holy Bible, but a third of the world's population do. The Bible points out very clearly that the Jewish people have the right to live in the Land of Israel.

Israel seeks peace with her neighbours—even to the extent of trading land for peace—but understandingly Israel doubts the sincerity of her peace partners, who continue to condone terrorist activities against Israel.

ISRAEL'S CAUSE IS JUST !!!!

HISTORICALLY

The Jewish People have always had a presence in the Holy Land from Biblical times up to the present. They have lived there longer than any other ethnic group. Therefore Israel has a right to live unmolested, with acceptance and respect from the other nations and peoples who also live in the Middle East.

POLITICALLY

Israel's right to live in its land was fully endorsed: first by the greatest world power of its day—the British Empire—with the Balfour Declaration of 1917. Secondly by the League of Nations after World War I, who gave international sanction to the historic connection between the Jewish people and the Land of Israel, and to the right of the Jewish people to rebuild its national home. And thirdly, by the United Nations on 29th November 1947 with resolution 181.

MILITARALLY

Israel's Army, Navy and Air Force are not an aggressive fighting machine. They are a strong Defence Force due to the fact that most of the Arab and Middle Eastern neighbours have refused consistently to recognise the right of the Jewish people to live in their own State there. All of Israel's modern wars have been brought about by the will of their neighbours who have either mobilised their vast resources of military might against Israel, or have deliberately and consistently targeted Israeli citizens in one way or another. The bottom line is that Israel has the right to defend itself.

BIBLICALLY

Not all people hold to the authority of the Holy Bible, but a third of the world's population do. The Bible points out very clearly that the Jewish people have the right to live in the Land of Israel.

Israel seeks peace with her neighbours—even to the extent of trading land for peace—but understandingly Israel doubts the sincerity of her peace partners, who continue to condone terrorist activities against Israel.